Sustaining Artful Instruction and Learning
June 25-30, 2017
Mobile, Alabama

Workshop Location

Alabama Contemporary Arts Center
301 Conti St 36602

Conference Hotel

The Admiral Hotel Mobile
251 Government St 36602

Available Learning Workshops:

• Creating Value – June 25 at noon to June 27 at 3:30

For any educator with or without expertise in an art form

As a way to introduce and engage with arts integration practices, we will explore the meaning of place, and how we can communicate our own experiences of places around us. We will combine visual art with theater and music, while also connecting with other curriculum subjects such as English Language Arts, Math, and Science.

• Making Value Visible – June 28 at noon to June 30 at 3:30

For arts educators with expertise in one or more art forms or any educator currently well versed in arts integration

How can we affect positive change through artistic expression? This and other essential questions will guide our exploration into a deeper understanding of quality learning. Broaden your ability to assess programming and to design and adjust your teaching for maximum impact.

• Tech Track – June 28 at noon to June 30 at 3:30

For any educator with or without expertise in an art form

iPads, iPads, and more iPads can be a tool for digital AND hands-on learning in the arts. Join Apple Teacher, Tara Sartorius, and guest artists as we delve deeper into the practice (and play) of applying media arts along with other subjects in the classroom.

• Valuing Arts Leadership – June 27 at noon to June 29 at 3:30

For team leaders, administrators and heads of community organizations

Understanding what it takes to support a strong arts-related curriculum in your school is the first step toward excellence. Observe and interact with your staff, and learn how teachers and administrators can work together to improve student learning and to enhance the community of your school environment.
